The meeting was very stimulating and educational. The theme is “Detecting Early Cancer”. Cancer is faced by every doctor in his/her career. This meeting focused on all aspects in total management of a patient inflicted with cancer and the doctor was primed in all aspects of the disease process as to how best to meet and treat the patient. Also, there was emphasis on early detection and treatment as then the prognosis will be better for some cancer. Those detected late will present with metastatic problems and examples were shown as to how best to manage.

This topic was general and therefore involved all disciplines of surgical and medical practices. As such there was great fellowship between all disciplines of medical practice. Therefore the meeting was a great success. Much thanks and gratitude must be given to the Chairman and his organising committee.

I have learnt more in this educational meeting and have also re-fostered the ties between both Colleges in this trip. On a personal note, I truly enjoyed myself.
